Pamela Christian announces release of “Examine Your Faith!”

New religious book explores the ‘crisis of faith’ and offers absolute truth as the remedy

By:

ORANGE COUNTY, Calif. – America is in a faith crisis, according to speaker and author, Pamela Christian. Many people believe that all roads lead the same heaven and God. Many also believe that truth is relative. Additionally, as reported by an ABC News website article, “Americans are Surprisingly Flexible About Religion,” nearly 6 in 10 Americans are attempting to blend different traditional religious beliefs and New Age, to create their own faith

In response, Christian has written Examine Your Faith! Finding Truth in a World of Lies (published by WestBow Press), to be released September 15, 2013. It is endorsed by Josh McDowell, Dr. Craig Hazen and Dan Story among others and is available at all major book retailers. In it Christian takes readers through the process of understanding truth and the impossibility of religious pluralism. She explores the five major world religions, and New Age, to demonstrate that these religions and philosophies cannot be blended together without some serious compromise and danger for the individual Christian’s book is based on two core premises: the belief that human beings intrinsically desire truth, and the belief that the human soul and spirit are eternal. Christian explains, “Whenever I speak to a group of people, one of the first questions I ask is, ‘Who in this room wants to live your life on the basis of a lie?’ No one ever raises their hand to that question,” which clearly reveals that people want to know truth and regard truth as better than lies.

Examine Your Faith! has chapters devoted to providing a basic overview of Judaism, Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam, Christianity and New Age, allowing the reader to see for him/herself the specific and contradictory distinctions. It’s Christian’s desire that people will conclude that only by discovering and living life in truth can anyone have a confident faith conviction.

Readers will get objective, verifiable information in an inductive fashion with the utmost respect and compassion towards them and their beliefs. They will also read the testimonies of others who were reared in a different faith than they possess today and learn of their journey of intentionally reconsidering their religious beliefs. Examine Your Faith! Finding Truth in a World of Lies, offers a clear-thinking path to a personal and rational conclusion about faith. View the compelling book trailer at <http://pamelachristianministries.com/>

Christian’s career in ministry began in the early 1990’s when she was called upon to serve as the Teaching Director for a Community Bible Study class, an independent, interdenominational, international organization. After serving in that position for nearly seven years, she began receiving invitations to speak for various church retreats and conferences, coast to coast.

In early 2002, her interest in Christian talk-radio was piqued. She sought the advice from her beloved friend, the late Rich Buhler referred to as the Dean of Christian talk radio, who surprised her by offering to train her for broadcasting. She was the only person Buhler ever offered to train. Soon thereafter, Christian secured a two hour weekly talk show for thirteen weeks, in the Los Angeles market. In 2004, she secured a certificate in apologetics from Biola University. Then later that same year, Christian was hired by Salem Communications to be their daily evening drive-time talk show host on KFAX in San Francisco. Within less than twelve months the stations ratings increased by .3 points and the commercial advertisers reported increased sales, all while the listeners continued to receive excellent programming.

Since returning to southern California, Christian has enjoyed continued work in media, including landing the principal role in a national television commercial. Her passion however, remains helping others discover and live in truth. Christian remains interested in various forms of media knowing that it is a powerful method of reaching the greatest number of people. There are two more books she has planned for this series that begins with Examine Your Faith! Finding Truth in a World of Lies.

“There aren’t nearly as many women as men publishing in the field of apologetics,” Christian shared. “Like everything else I’ve done in ministry, I didn’t come up with the idea myself and then set out to accomplish it. Instead the idea got hold of me and I couldn’t suppress it. After I read the ABC News article previously mentioned, I was aggravated that so many people are being duped. I just couldn’t do nothing, and writing a book using apologetics to help people reason through their own belief system seemed the best way to help. Religious faith is a personal matter. So is reading a book. It’s my desire that Examine Your Faith! Finding Truth in a World of Lies reaches hundreds of thousands of people, worldwide, because the deception about truth is not limited to America.”

Christian’s plans to launch the book include an Internet launch party with plenty of free book giveaways. Those who win copies of her book from various book sites are asked to post their review online, especially during the launch month. Special promotional pricing is available for a limited time. In addition to her website hosting a launch contest (learn details about the contest and subscribe at to her free ENewsletter and Blog at <http://pamelachristianministries.com/book-launch-contest>) Christian is offering free book give-aways on other book sites such as BookFun.org, and GoodReads.com during the same time frame. Each web site has different rules to be eligible to win.

She’s also planning a book and speaking tour early spring and will be posting details about that on her web site. Anyone interested in booking Christian to speak or scheduling an interview is asked to contact her publicist, Don Otis at 719 275-7775.

“Examine Your Faith! Finding Truth in a World of Lies is a great book to personally read so you can better share why you believe what you believe. It is also a perfect book to give away to help others discover life-giving truth for themselves. I believe this so much,” Christian enthusiastically shared, “that I’m giving one book away to evangelistic outreach organizations for every ten books sold through my web site.”
